Wages of teacher per month—High school, Principal, $700; assistant, $300. Grammar, $40, $36. Intermediate, $32. North, East, South and West Primaries, $20.

TO THE INHABITANTS OF UNION SCHOOL DISTRICT, NEWPORT: The High School in the spring term was under the charge of Sidney E. Junkins and Emma E. Thrasher. Both of these teachers were good instructors and maintained the school in excellent discipline. Prof. Junkins was engaged for the fall term, but, influenced by an offer of double the salary he was receiving in Newport, declined to fulfill his engagement and gave the board but three days' notice in which to fill the vacancy. F. O. Chellis was secured as principal and Bernice L. Day, assistant. Miss Day has done faithful and efficient work highly satisfactory to the school board and alike, we believe, to the pupils. As the principal is a member of the board we are pleased to report the school in no worse condition than it is.

To report upon the Grammar and Intermediate departments and do justice alike to teachers and district is a difficult task.

The first term of the Grammar school was taught by Addie E. Gould and the last two terms by May E. Perley. Alice A. Quimby was in charge of the Intermediate during the spring and fall terms and Nellie E. Woolson the winter term.

All of these teachers labored faithfully and earnestly for the progress of the schools, and considering their crowded condition and unfavorable surroundings, well deserve the approval of the district for what they accomplished.

The North Primary has continued during the year under Ellen H. Rogers. Miss Rogers is a superior teacher of young children, and she has won the respect and esteem of all who know of her work; she is a teacher that this district can ill afford to lose.

The East Primary was taught in the spring term by Hattie A. Goodrich. This was the first term of Miss Goodrich in a graded school and although she had fair success, it was what we must usually expect from teachers of no experience in this grade of work.

The school has been taught for the past two terms by Sadie H. Gunnison one of the graduates of the high school in the class of '89. Miss Gunnison has done good work for a young teacher, and with experience is sure to make an excellent teacher whom Newport so much needs but cannot or will not have.

Mary E. Beck continued in the South Primary during the spring term. She left Newport in the summer on account of ill health and her place has been filled by Carrie B. Tenney, who was also in our last graduating class.

In some respects this is the hardest of our primary schools and it is about impossible for teachers to keep the discipline what it should be.

Mrs. A. B. Carr, who has given so good satisfaction in the West Primary for so long a time, has had charge of the school for the past year. The school has increased somewhat in numbers for the past year, and your committee would not advise its discontinuance so long as the village schools remain as crowded as they are at present.

As a whole we believe the schools have been fairly successful; in few respects are they what they should be, nor do we believe they will compare favorably with other schools of the state in villages of this size.

Our accommodations are lamentably inadequate. The course of study needs a revision and the public spirit of the community in the direction of educational matters is far below what is necessary in order to secure an efficient and well managed school system. There is only one way for us to improve our schools, and that is, for those who have children to educate, and other friends of improvement, to insist upon a better condition of things; for there are few who have money and no children who are willing to urge or advocate improvements, while the number is still larger who will actually discourage and resist all movements in this direction.

The public schools of the past have made us great as a nation; and in the efficiency of their future maintenance rests the liberty of the individual and the safety of the Republic.

ROLL OF PERFECT ATTENDANCE.

High School—Abbie H. Ahern.

Grammar—Lizzie Ahern, Bessie Joslin, Clarence Mooney.

Intermediate—Ray Bascom, Willis Ellis.

All of which is respectfully submitted,
